

CISO as a Service

CyPro provides you with a tailored CISO that will take care your security concerns with security strategy plan while you will stay focus on business growth.

The Challenge

Every day we witness security events taking place all over the world, causing financial and reputational damages. These events are often not handled properly and the organization's readiness for the next security event is in doubt.

Organizations are becoming aware the need of appointing dedicated personnel (such as a CISO - Chief Information Security Officer) to address and council for security. However, for many organizations this may add significant cost.

Our Approach

CyPro offers a CISO as a service that will provide your business a full coverage of all information security management across your organization including performing ongoing security tasks, planning a security short and long term security strategy, raising security awareness and education and lead the organization to adhere laws, standards and regulation that are security-related.

Our CISO will help improve your organization's resilience against cyber-attacks pose a security risk to your organization by continuously improving the technical, operational and administrative security controls deployed within your organization.

About Us

CyPro provides information security consulting services delivered by leading cyber experts with many years of experience with guiding organizations worldwide to improve their security posture to adhere to the highest standards considering business related challenges and needs.

Get in touch with us today to learn more about our services and find out what our team can do for you!